

19 out of the 39 (48%) professionals who attended the conference completed the evaluation questionnaire.

76.5% belonged to NGO, 17.5% were Public health officers, and 6% were Policy Adviser.

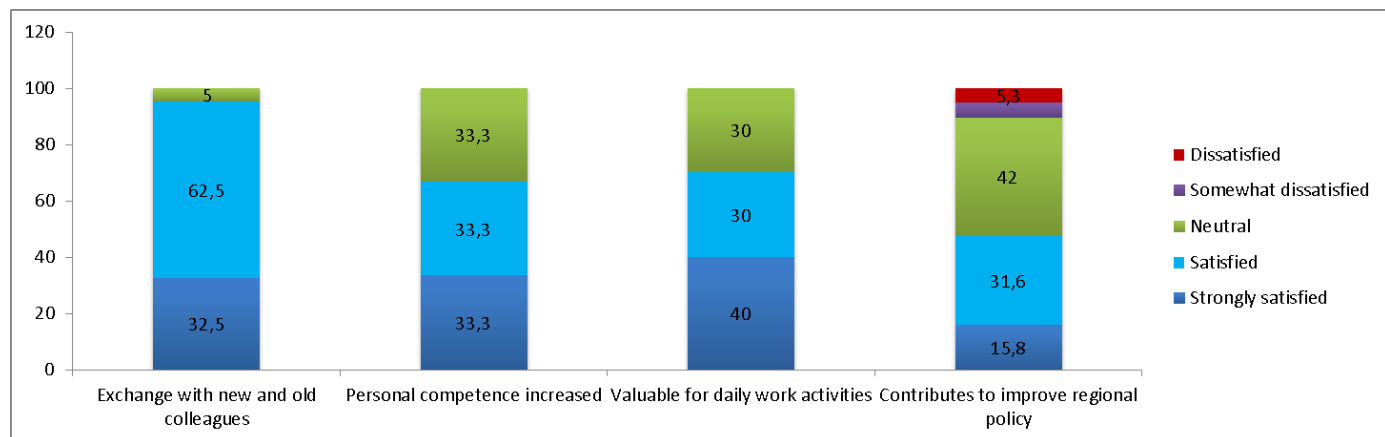

The participants who completed the survey were from 12 countries.

The two most important logistical factors that influenced the decision to attend this conference were networking opportunities (70.5%), location (63%), conference dates (54.5%).

The potential impact of the conference (see fig. 1):

- 95% were satisfied with the opportunity for interaction with colleagues
- 67% were satisfied with the increase in personal competence
- 71.5% were satisfied with the value for daily work activities
- 47.5% thought this conference contributed to improving regional policies

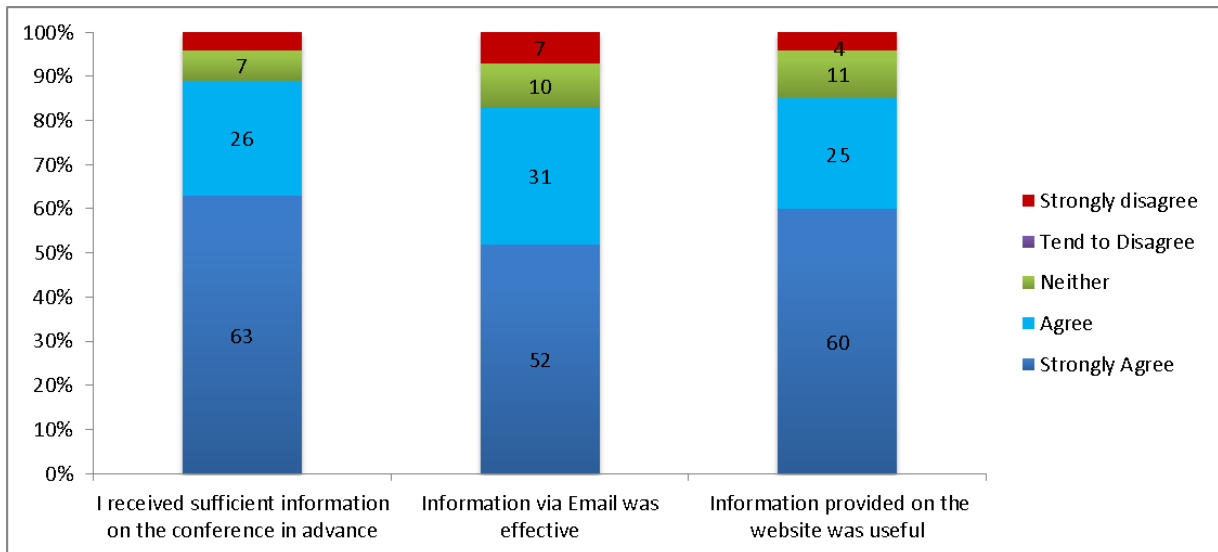

Figure 1: Impact of the conference

The overall impression of administrative feedback was (see fig. 2)

- 89% received sufficient information on the conference in advance
- 83% thought that the information via Email was effective
- 85% thought that the information provided on the website was useful

Figure 2: Impression administrative feedback

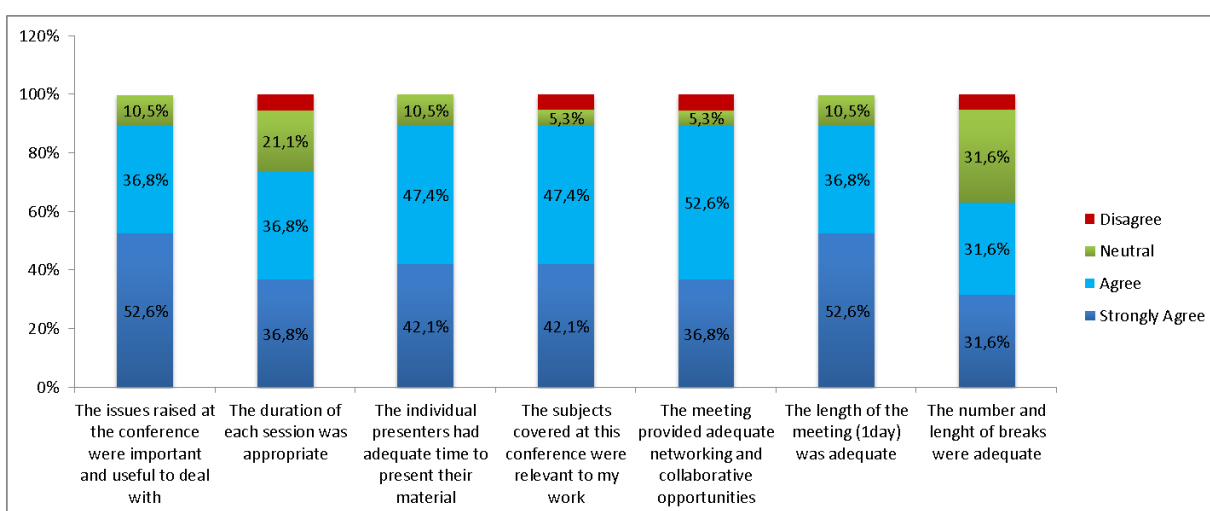

The overall impression of the conference was excellent in 53% of cases and good in 47%.

General meeting feedback (see fig 3):

- 89.5% found the meeting important and useful.
- 73.5% agreed with the duration of each session
- 89.5% agreed that the time for the individual presenters was adequate
- 89.5% thought that this meeting was relevant to their work
- 89.5% opined that the meeting provided adequate networking and collaborative opportunities.
- 89.5% agreed with the length of the meeting (1 day)
- 63% agreed with the number and length of breaks

Figure 3: General conference feedback

The members of the network:

- 58% are satisfied with the activities of APN

Main Activities of APN in the future (see fig. 4):

- 50% opined that they are important to provide opportunities for people in leading positions in public health oriented policy to meet independently, exchange information, keep up to date on pertinent developments in the field at

- global, EU, country and individual community level and establish cooperative activities
- 25% found them important to facilitate advocacy training on public health alcohol policies and provide assistance
- 58.5% opined that they are important to promote best practice and develop guidelines on the basis of knowledge and experiences gained. To identify gaps and needs for research in the field of alcohol policies, research and promote European cooperation
- 46% found them important to identify gaps and needs for research in the field of alcohol policies, research and promote European cooperation

Figure 4: Main Activities of APN in the future

